JOHNSON STRONG IN SOUTH DAKOTA PRELIMINARY VOTE

DIVIDES HONORS WITH COOLIDGE OVER DELEGATES.

McADOO IN LEAD

Scores Heavily Over Henry Ford for Democratic Delegation Majority.

(By Associated Press.)
SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Nov. 20.—When the state proposal conventions of the three parties in South Dakota, republican, democratic and farmer-labor, met in Pierre, S. D., today, the republican delegates will choose their presidential nominees in the republican and farmer-labor meetings, while nomination of William Gibbs McAdoo as democratic standard bearer appeared assured as a result of the proposal conventions held by the three parties in each of the state's 69 counties yesterday.

19 Endorse McAdoo

Nineteen counties, representing 23,548 votes, endorsed the candidacy of Mr. McAdoo in the democratic county conventions and, in the opinion of W. W. Howes, state party chairman, made his nomination a two-to-one certainty. Four full counties, which, with scattered delegations, carry a vote of about $400, came out for Henry Ford to lead the democratic ticket, according to Mr. McAdoo of Sioux Falls and E. H. Hildebrand of Watertown, who led the campaign to nominate the only presidential nominee. The votes claimed for Ford, some of which are contested by McAdoo adherents, would give the Detroit man about one-sixth of the democratic votes of South Dakota.

Uran Versus Cal

President Coolidge and Senator Hiram Johnson of California were the only presidential nominees considered at the 69 republican county conventions, yet most of the county delegations were uncommitted. The president received four counties, and a fifth endorsed the national administration. Three counties, including two of the 10 largest in the state, came out for the republican ticket. Six other delegations instructed their delegates to vote for state officials native in the Johnson cause.

Ford in Two Counties

Ford was endorsed in two counties under the farmer-labor banner, other third party counties from which he has been dropped. The farmer-labor delegates uncommitted. Three counties passed resolutions favoring formation of a third party, but without naming a candidate.

Two Counties

Two counties endorsed democratic conventions endorsed proposals for coalition between the third party and the democrats, the fusion question is expected to be a lively matter of discussion at the farmer-labor convention at Pierre.

U. S. USES PADLOCK LAW TO CLOSE UP SUPERIOR RESORTS

DOUGHERTY'S ASSISTANT STARTS 3 INJUNCTION ACTIONS.

BUSY IN MADISON

Raids in "Little Italy" Land 20 Aliens in Federal Court.

The strong arm of the Volstead law—injunction proceedings—is being used by the staff of U. S. Attorney W. C. Dougherty in closing up resorts and restraining bootleggers. The padlock law was applied recently to three places in Superior so that not only the building used for the sale or storage of illegal liquor will be closed—but more important, the tenant or bootlegger is restrained from traffic in liquor at the closed place or "at any or all places."

Blow to Bootlegging

"This amounts practically to an injunction against the bootlegger," said the assistant U. S. attorney for the western Wisconsin district, Stanley M. Ryan, Janesville. "If the man named in the injunction order is caught dealing with liquor at the closed place, as well as his establishment named in the injunction, he can be brought into court for contempt and punished without a jury trial."

This week the U. S. attorney's staff is conducting hearings against 20 Italians and other aliens from the "Little Italy" district of Madison. The government raid was rewarded by the arrest of several old offenders.

The padlock law allowed under the prohibition law may be used as a strong-arm in the Madison cases. The government is also interested in the question as to whether aliens convicted of violation of the prohibition law can be deported through the immigration department.

What the Bowling Tournament Means for Janesville

So many questions have been asked regarding the underwriting of the 600-team entry from Janesville for the Wisconsin State Bowling tournament here, Jan. 18 to Feb. 18, the following facts are given to clear up any doubts:

It was necessary to promise $6,000 in entry money in order to win the bid and bring the bowling convention to Janesville.

It is the largest convention in the history of the American Bowling Congress. The $6,000 is being raised now by solicitors.

This money will pay entries at $11 a team.

Ten dollars of the entry money of each team goes toward providing the $15,000 in cash prizes.

The other dollar is for membership in the American Bowling Congress, which is essential in order to legalize scores for record purposes.

Those who add in underwriting the Janesville entry need not worry about who will make up their team. That will be taken care of by a later committee.

Five hundred teams from other parts of the state will come here. That means 2,500 men.

These men will bring friends, including their wives, which will total approximately 10,000.

These bowlers and friends are free spenders, usually $25 to $25 per man.

SAYS HARMON WAS LEGALLY OUSTED

City Manager Quotes Law Giving His Full Power on Removals.

Prediction that the case against the city proposed by Charles Harmon, ousted police officer, will never be taken to court if the plaintiff's attorney studies the Wisconsin city manager law and the city manager's statement was made Wednesday by City Manager Henry Traxler. The statement was made in connection with Mr. Harmon's announcement that he would sue the city for damages for his removal from office.

"As I understand the city manager law it is clear as can be that the manager has full power to hire or remove any employee of the city, and that no hearing is necessary," said Mr. Traxler. "There is no civil service connected with it at all."

Law Upholds Him

The city manager called attention to the city manager law, chapter 75 in regard to appointments, which reads as follows:

"The city manager shall have the power to appoint and remove all city officials and all city employees, and to remove such employees at any time, if he sees fit, and that no hearing is necessary."

Mr. Traxler declared that in addition the city manager has full power to hire or remove any employee of the city, and that no hearing is necessary. He feels that there is no question but that Harmon was legally removed.

"When it was decided to reduce the police force by three men I told Chief Newman to keep the 11 best men and discharge the others," continued the manager.

Chief Newman said Harmon turned in his star the day he was notified he would be through Nov. 15.

FARMER-LABOR IN MINNESOTA MAY JILT PROGRESSIVES

(By Associated Press.)
ST. PAUL.—The farmer-labor party in Minnesota may not join the new progressive party, called into national convention at St. Paul May 30, 1924, it was indicated today in a formal statement issued by P. A. Pike, chairman of the state central committee of the farmer-labor party.

Mr. Pike referred to the recent third party conference in Chicago. "The proceedings at Chicago," he said, "show the impatience with which some progressive workers are looking for a new national party."

The farmer-labor party in this state has not yet determined its course in the matter. That undoubtedly would be one of the subjects to be considered at a state conference of the party which the district and county committees are now holding.

"What has been done so far has been done on individual initiative and responsibility," Mr. Pike continued to amplify his statement or to say what will be the date of the state conference, other than it will be soon after Jan. 1.

YONKERS, N. Y.—Mayor Walter M. Tausig was found this morning in the garage behind his home, a revolver near him, and was taken to a hospital where he died from a bullet wound believed by the police to have been self-inflicted.

Mayor Tausig was a brother of Frank W. Tausig, the famous socialist, who served as chairman of the United States tariff commission and has been the Henry Lee professor at Harvard since 1901.

The mayor, who was reputed to be wealthy, was vice president of the American Chain company and was interested in a number of other large industrial enterprises. He was active in local philanthropies.

A democrat, he was defeated for reelection, Tuesday, by Ulrich Wiesen-dorfer, republican.

CAN DOUBLE THE DEMAND ON CHEESE

Cheese Making Started Near Fond du Lac—Now Yields 70 Million.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS] Fond du Lac, Wis., Nov. 20.—The "cornerstone" of Wisconsin's cheese industry, now controlling seventy per cent of the domestic production, was laid on the farm of a young man in his early twenties, one Chester Hazen, of Fond du Lac county, 12 miles from this city, nearly 60 years ago, according to data prepared by Mr. Hazen, head of dairy marketing, Wisconsin department of markets, Madison.

In 1864, young Hazen conceived the idea that cheese, as it was made in many farm homes for family consumption, should be placed upon the market as a commercial product. Accordingly, he built for himself a factory in a vacant building equipped with cheese vats and presses, used solely for the making of cheese and caring for all the cheese made in the vicinity.

Up to this time, all cheese in this state was made in the farm kitchens, usually by the housewife, consisting of the cheese made from the milk of most cases, of one to five cows. Mr. Hazen, before the erection of this first cheese factory, was a high-class cheese maker on his farm, the product of between 15 and 20 cows. The product was known as the Cheddar type, now called American cheese in the United States; Canadian cheese in the Dominion and New Zealand cheese in New Zealand. This type originated in Cheddar, England, and derived its name from the town of its source.

The Hazen brothers—there were four or five of them—with their widowed mother, came to Wisconsin from the state of New York where Chester had learned the art of cheese making. At that time, as well as up to 1890, much uncertainty in quality was connected with the making of cheese as the product would vary in quality from day to day without apparent explanation. Change to Factory. Chester Hazen, at the time he built the first Wisconsin cheese factory, was cheesemaker as well as a part owner of the factory. He and his cheese factory became widely known when he captured first prize on an exhibit of cheese he showed at the International Dairy Show in New York in 1878. At that time there were about 20 cheese factories in Fond du Lac county producing over 200,000 pounds of cheese annually as compared with 20,000,000 in the ninety factories in the year 1922. The cheese factory of Mr. Hazen flourished for many years, receiving at times milk from 1,000 cows as compared with 100 cows when the factory was opened to the public. Such was the beginning of Wisconsin's great cheese industry which has grown up by leaps and bounds until today the state produces seventy per cent of all the cheese produced in the United States, or over 300,000,000 pounds annually, valued at more than $70,000,000, and turned out by 2,800 cheese factories. Producing cheese has made Wisconsin prosperous as well as famous. Speaking of the industry, Mr. Hazen says: "Wisconsin's great cheese industry came as a necessity and not because of the pleasure connected with either the making of cheese or the milking of cows. It was because of the wheat growing failures due to chinch bugs, rust and depleted soil conditions, year after year, just as New York state was forced to the making of cheese in 1855 because of sheep raising failures due to hoof rot and other diseases in that industry at that time.

The present need, in the Wisconsin Cheese industry, according to Mr. Hazen, is a marketing program by which the consumer, at all times, has the assurance of a uniform blend or curing in the buying of cheese for his table. When the consumer gets this assurance, the consumption of cheese will be doubled," says Mr. Hazen. "In other words, it will be eight pounds per capita. This would at once benefit producer and consumer as cheese would then be handled on as close a margin as butter and many grocery articles.

PRODUCERS "CO-OP" CONTINUES GROWING

Despite difficulties and troubles encountered, the National Livestock Producers association, through which sales are made by most of the local livestock shipping associations, the "co-ops" continue to grow and flourish. The total number of cars handled by the producers from Oct. 25 to Nov. 2 numbered 1,382, and the producers were first in Buffalo, Indianapolis, Peoria, and second in Chicago, Sioux City and several other terminal markets.

"Naturally, the producers are having very persistent opposition from our competitors, who, for the most part, are members of the Live Stock exchange on the market where we are in business," reads a letter from P. M. Simpson, general manager, to the Rock County Farm Bureau.

A rebate has been paid many of the farm bureau members who have shipped through the livestock associations from sale with the producers association. Under a recent ruling, the rebates will only be given to paid-up farm bureau members in the county. The farm bureau executive committee has determined to draw the lines more strict in the matter of service. For the first period of organization, the bureau service was extended to both non-members and members alike, with the result many farmers who are members declare that they have received no direct benefit.

MARKETING MEETING CALLED FOR DEC. 5

Considerable attention has been directed toward co-operative marketing during the past week, due primarily to the fact that the Wisconsin Supreme court stamped with approval the legality of "same co-ops," reports L. C. Foster, department of markets. Co-operative marketing will be under discussion during the Wisconsin Products exposition in Milwaukee. A meeting has been called for December 5 in the plankton hall of the Milwaukee association for the preparation of a real constructive program for better marketing. A request is made by Deputy Commissioner Foster for a delegation from Rock county to attend.

WOMEN'S WORK FAVORED BY STATE

There are five planks in Wisconsin's 1924 farm platform.

Co-operative, extension specialists, farm institute workers and representatives of farm organizations are pointing their efforts toward the general adoption of this plan. They hope that it will result in still further intensifying the state's system of farm diversification.

Alfalfa, the first plank in the platform, rates high at present, due to the backsliding of the clover crops in the state. The ability of alfalfa to overcome drought and other handicaps makes it the pinch hitter crop to supply home grown protein forage.

Women's work will come in for a goodly share of attention during the year. The importance of the home and the homemaker is recognized and effort will be made to lighten the load of this important unit in Wisconsin farming. Leaders of agricultural work will continue to emphasize boys and girls club work during the 1924 drive. Joint steps in the marketing of cheese and butter have already been made but renewed efforts will be made during the coming year to win still better markets for the products of Wisconsin creameries and cheese factories.

A recent letter received from Iowa buyers reports "entire satisfaction" with a carload selected from Rock county.

"My neighbors have wanted to purchase the cattle I brought home from Rock county, but on getting them home, was more than convinced they were good enough to keep in my own barn. We were certainly pleased with the treatment extended us," reads the letter received by the farm bureau.

The good old summer time— in December

FRANK LEHR, of Noblesville, Indiana, lived in a typical American home with an all-American temperature. The kitchen was Miami, but the bedrooms were Bangor, Maine.

A year ago he threw out his old-fashioned heating plant and installed ARCOLA, setting it in the kitchen and connecting it with an American Radiator in every room.

"We are delighted," he wrote last December. "Our home, which was only partially heated before, is now like summer all the time. Rooms which were never known to be warm are filled with growing plants... We would not part with ARCOLA for $1000 if we could not have another."

Human life is short enough at the best. Why waste another winter huddled around an old-fashioned stove or in a room half hot and half cold from an old-fashioned heating plant? Why not have warmth from an American Radiator in every room?

The cost is only a fraction of the value which Mr. Lehr places on his ARCOLA; and the whole amount comes back to you. Thousands of owners testify that ARCOLA pays for itself in the fuel it saves.

This sign is the mark of the merchant who sells ARCOLA.

The Body Must Have Nitrogen

THE body requires nitrogen to build up muscular tissues and firm flesh, and this nitrogen is found in abundance in the protein content of the food you eat. In good bread—HOLSUM Bread—you'll find a large supply.

Why, a pound of HOLSUM contains 59% of all the protein your body needs daily. Besides that, it contains 38% of the energy-building carbohydrates and 72% of the minerals, or inorganic salts.

It's really remarkable how much essential nourishment there is in a loaf of HOLSUM. It's to your greatest advantage to serve more HOLSUM—for few folks eat enough of it. But, when you buy bread, remember that there are several grades and be sure you specify HOLSUM by name.

Try this delicious HOLSUM dessert:

Mock Plum Pudding
One quart of sweet milk, 5 slices of HOLSUM thickly buttered, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup seeded raisins, 2 eggs beaten light a few grains of salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon nutmeg. ## Pretty Hands from Dishpans!

Pure Soap—This New Way is the Reason, as Thousands Now Know

Those lovely, dainty hands. Are you spoiling them?

Here is a new idea in a household soap. It will help you to keep them pretty.

As world's experts in beauty, we made it for the woman who does her own work. A soap for cleaning, scrubbing, washing, that is kind to the skin.

Why Women Had Ugly Hands

3 housewives in 4 used to have ugly, red hands.

Now you see fewer and fewer every day. "Housewives' hands" soon will be a rarity.

Old-time household soaps contained 25% to 40% water-glass—a skin-wrecker. Of 28 popular brands recently tested, 27 were adulterated.

That was the cause.

Now With Olive Oil!

But now comes a more gentle way.

The name is Green Arrow—all pure soap, no adulterant.

Olive oil is a principal ingredient. It is as fine as a quality toilet soap. Yet it cleans more quickly and safely than the strongest laundry soap.

Wash, scrub, house clean—you have pretty hands! It will do this for you.

For One Week

Obtain a bar of Green Arrow at your grocer's.

Then look at your hands in one week.

What you see will be a revelation.

And it costs but a few cents each month to enjoy this new delight. It goes almost twice as far as low grade soap—and you must figure soap cost by the month, not by the cake.

Green Arrow Soap comes in two forms—cake soap, for general household use—chips (or flakes) for laundry and fine fabrics. Both offer you unusual advantages.

Your Hands Tell the Story

Rough, ugly hands tell a story to the world. A story of the kitchen, the laundry, the scrub bucket.

Most women do housework. But few want to tell it to every chance acquaintance.

Most laundry soaps contain 25 to 40% water glass. This adulterant, technically known as silicate of soda, is invariably accompanied by an excess of caustic.

It is this "filler"—not soap—that ruins hands. Green Arrow is made with the precision of a toilet soap and is pure soap.

Now you can have white and lovely hands regardless of how much kitchen work you do.

For your hands and your clothes sake, go to your grocer and insist on buying GREEN ARROW.

WELCH EXPLAINS QUARANTINE LAW

People in Home May Be Released If Culture Negative.

On account of a great deal of misunderstanding over the rules regarding diphtheria quarantine, and the regulations binding persons who have come in contact with cases, Dr. Fred B. Welch, city health officer, calls attention to the rules laid down by the board of health.

Persons remaining in the home with the patient must remain in quarantine until a culture from both nose and throat is negative to diphtheria bacilli and person and clothing have been disinfected. In cases where the patient is removed to an isolation hospital or elsewhere the home must be disinfected before quarantine is removed. Such persons must come in contact with patient until culture is taken.

NEW MEMBERS for Railroad Safety Group

Election of new members to the 1924 Safety committee of the C. & N. W. railroad took place Tuesday afternoon.

The new members are Roy Wilkins, Joseph Boylan, V. Korbin, Ira Bryant, Henry Schmitt, Arthur Podewil, Mark Hull, John O'Donnell, Gerald Metzger, Martin Drew, Bekker Jones, W. H. Wade, William Wilkus, Frank Lawson, Herbert Whitmyer, George Gray, Len Arlis and Marvin Cardine.

Discussion of new safety appliances and methods to promote safety and decrease accidents were discussed. Grade crossing dangers and accidents were discussed and facts and figures were read.

In the last five years, 9,101 persons, almost twice the number killed at the Battle of Gettysburg, have sacrificed their lives at highway crossings in the United States through failure to stop, look and listen. It was brought out.

Suggestions that all grade crossings be removed or elevated have been made. There are 250,000 grade crossings in the United States and at $50,000 each it would cost $12,500,000,000 to take at least 30 years to remove them, the railroads estimate. This expense is about two-thirds of the value of all the railroads in the country, as tentatively found by the Interstate Commerce Commission and neither the railroads nor the municipalities have the money. "Stop, look and listen" is the rule that can be followed now without cost, says the committee. It takes a train but a few seconds to pass over a crossing.

The Red Cross Roll Call.

There is a slowness about the Red Cross roll call that has not been the usual experience at this time when the funds for the conduct of the organization another year are being collected. Of course we have a lot of things to do with money, but we should enroll in Rock county the regular number of members and add some others.
For the need of its services is continuous in the field that it has so effectively kept guard, and in emergency it never fails to render help.
During the past year the Japanese earthquake was the occasion for instant relief measures, and the Red Cross, as always, was ready with medical supplies, food and clothing for the victims. But less is known of its work in giving assistance to disabled ex-service men, of whom 300,000 veterans or members of their families found it a faithful aid in time of trouble. Merely an incident in its work, it brought about communication again, where persons were missing, between 3,000 war veterans and members of their families.
The people of this city should only need to be reminded that the roll call is under way to respond quickly and without further appeals.

Uncle Hiram Haversack says he was looking all over the menu in the chop suey place for a dish of Mah Jongg.

Corrupting the Profession.

Chief Justice George W. Wheeler of the supreme court of Connecticut has fairly broken up the lawlessness in bootlegging in that state by insisting on jail sentences for violators of the liquor laws. "A mere fine in this class of crimes is a mere license," he says. "It is no deterrent.
Any liquor seller charges it to overhead expenses."
And again he says, speaking of the same criminals,
"They are corrupting the profession of the law by paying for service which no self respecting lawyer ought to engage in." Backed by the justice of the supreme court and his attitude as to the bar in the matter of aiding bootleggers as counsel, there has been a stiffening of the backbone of minor courts and a cleaning up of the criminal liquor violators theretofore thought to be quite impossible.

Madison sought to deport Little Italy bodily back to Naples.

The report by the Kiwanis club of $1,329 as the amount of net receipts certified into the club treasury for the use of the campaign in behalf of the underprivileged child, is a high testimonial to the good will of the people of Janesville and vicinity who have made this possible. It was splendid support to the club and the great work which it has started toward giving the child a square deal, no matter if he has started out on the journey of life with handicaps. The Kiwanis idea is that these handicaps may in almost a complete measure be removed and the boy and girl may get an even break in the race of the years.

Seeing Johnson's hat in the ring, California proceeds at once to kick a hole in it.

It would seem that Samuel Untermyer, one of our great lawyers, has a few things to say of the administration of law. In declaring that the most serious menace to the administration of justice was perjury he added:

"It is notorious that perjury is rampant in our courts and is on the increase. The very vitals of our systems of administering justice, on which our institutions depend, are being sapped and the whole fabric is threatened with destruction because perjury has become almost immune with us, due to the lax administration of the law."

Wisconsin is the sauer kraut state' now according to reports from the cabbage sections. In politics it has preserved a lot of lemons also.

Former Secretary Meredith voiced the statement made a few days ago by J. A. Craig, at the dinner given to John Robinson at Evansville that the greatest work in the future determination of the agriculture of the nation was to help the junior boys and girls clubs in agriculture and live stock. Mr. Meredith said that the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs must get behind this movement and other organizations should join to help. In Rock county this year we ought to have at least a thousand members of these junior clubs.

If Kaiser Wilhelm gets back to Germany he will

Greece has given its king a two months' vaca-

the nation votes on whether it wants him back and might be carried out in the United States when candidates are up for re-election.

One of the reasons why the governor of this state is not deeply interested in the decision of

THE PASSING OF PENMANSHIP

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.
Washington.—Is legible penmanship becoming a lost art? Uncle Sam, who is compelled to spend hundreds of millions of dollars every year in deciphering doubtful mailing addresses, fears it is. So do hard-worked college professors, who are forced to battle with baffling examination papers. The matter seems to be one for real alarm.
In grandfather's day, everybody practiced laboriously to achieve a fine legible hand. Perhaps, because the percentage of illiteracy was then very high, illegible handwriting was looked upon more or less as a disgrace; it was too likely to signify a lack of education. All strove to copy the beautiful penmanship that distinguished the business letter of the period. Penmanship whose only counterpart in these times is the script engraving on wedding invitations.
But today, illegibility in handwriting is considered a mark of distinction and the greatest compliment you can pay a friend is to tell him you could not read his letter.
"My penmanship is so terrible," boasted a college girl recently, "that Aluma sent my last letter back with a note saying she could not read Russian."

This rapid decline of penmanship is easily accounted for. In the first place, business has adopted the writing machine, so that there is no demand for skilled pen-pushing. And in the second place, the twentieth century places a much higher value on originality and initiative—which it calls personality—than it does on conscientious efficiency. Thus, the young man who sits up half the night making a painstaking copy of his letter applying for a job invariably loses out to the man who spends five minutes getting the firm on the telephone.
Not only is beautiful penmanship non-essential to present day business, but in most cases it is considered positively undesirable. Nearly every large business institution of these times has its stamp of personality, and these are well considered. Human psychology and hence presumably in finding the right individual for the right job.
Interviews for employment are usually solicited through letters written to these personnel experts, and when a letter comes in which has been laboriously written by hand the writer is deduced to be a plodding, painstaking soul who would probably be incapable of acting on his own initiative. Such an application would never be considered for the job of office executive or salesman.

The vice-president of a large automobile corporation tells of an incident illustrative of the methods of personnel experts. One day, several candidates for a newly-opened agency in a midwestern city were sitting in the employment room of the home office waiting to hear which one would be chosen for the position. Finally, the employment manager, who had privately interviewed each of them, came forward with a paper in his hand.

"The man selected for this job," he announced,
"is the man who wrote the striking signature on this application blank. Which of you wrote it?"

While this is doubtless an exaggeration, it is true that the personnel expert looks for personality in an applicant's penmanship rather than technique. Some of them have made such an extensive study of the matter that they rely entirely on handwriting as an index to character.
One such expert has discovered, for instance, that methodical and systematic persons always write at a slant of 30 or 40 degrees, on a perfect alignment throughout, top and bottom, carrying all the letters to the same height. Very different, he says, is the handwriting of the aggressive, independent, self-seeking type of man, whose letters are bold, heavy and vertical, with exaggerated crosses on the 'c's.

When persons write now at one angle and now at another, it indicates that they have no continuity of thought or work. They lose sight of their purpose and may be said to have no true ambition. Sometimes, however, nervousness is responsible, particularly when the lineation is bad.
Many flourishes and elaborate curves betray weakness, especially in the way of education, for as a rule the more illiterate a person is, the more flourishes he makes. Ornamental capital letters are always an indication of bad taste.

The independent, ambitious, and habitually successful type of man usually makes big, plain capital letters, with the rest of the writing symmetrical and neither large nor small. An exception has been noted in the case of successful engineers, however, whose penmanship, though neat, is seldom symmetrical.

The personnel expert who depends upon penmanship as an index to character, lets no curve or dot escape his notice. If the final 'r' on the end of a small word is prolonged in a thick stroke for an inch and a half, it proves to him that the writer is the sort of person who makes a large figure out of nothing. Unconnected letters in the same word signify the writer is careless in many things, including money matters. Here is a blank space left at the end of a line, although there was plenty of room for the next word. That signifies useless extravagance and lack of adaptability.
The more money a man owes, it is said, the more paper he covers in writing a letter.

Another class of business men, to whom penmanship is a means of judging character, is the inspectors of the big bonding companies which underwrite thousands of human risks every year.
The applicants for such bonds seldom realize how carefully their penmanship is examined and filed away for future reference. It might be supposed that here, at least, a fine, legible hand would be esteemed, but on the contrary it is viewed with the greatest suspicion.

These bonding experts know that the handwriting of the average human being, appearing in its natural state, is full of imperfections. Years ago, when everybody strove to copy the popular penmanship ideal, these imperfections were not so apparent. Neither are they apparent when the writer is deliberately attempting to conceal his true personality. Thus, experience has taught the bonding companies that the majority of crooks are fine penmen.

One bonding expert asserts that every time an applicant writes in a strikingly faultless hand, he is submitting a suspiciously unusual case. He inspects the handwriting of the applicant's record before he consents to underwrite him. The normal man forms his letters with the idea of writing freely and speedily. The mad with the makings of a crook in him desires to show off his cleverness, his admiration, and conceal his own true character.

In looking over his files of business criminals, this inspector finds scarcely any specimens of poor handwriting.

Already the widespread adoption of the portable typewriter has greatly reduced the use of the pen even for personal letters.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.
ACHIEVEMENT
Buckle in, buckle in, buckle in to the task!
For the commonplace duties and easy don't ask,
Be glad it's your fortune to carry a load,
To turn from the highways and blaze a new road.
Be glad life has asked you great courage to bring.
To some difficult thing!
What man has done there are many to do.
But the feat unaccomplished remains for the few.
The problems unsolved and the mountains un-scaled
Will yet be achieved of all who have failed.
And he will be great who'll tenaciously cling
To some difficult thing.

Who's Who Today

SEN. CHARLES L. MCNARY Sen. Charles L. McNary, senior member of the upper house from Oregon, is laying his plans now to win renomination for his seat at the Republican primaries in his home state next May.
The senatorial campaign promises to reopen the Ku Klux Klan issue, which was an important one in the last general election campaign. In a recent statement McNary is quoted as saying:
"Other candidates may seek further to inflame existing animosities by appeal to racial and religious prejudices, but I shall not do so."
Charles Linza McNary was born on a farm near Salem, Ore., Jan. 12, 1874. He was educated under private tutors and in Leland Stanford university. He was admitted to the Oregon bar in 1898.
McNary's first public office was that of deputy district attorney, Jan. 12, 1914. He was the third judicial district of Oregon. He held that office from 1906 to 1913.
He was justice of the supreme court of his state from 1913 to 1915 and entered the senate June 1, 1917. He is a member of the Oregon bar and, deceased, McNary also has served as dean of the Willamette university law college and has held directorates in numerous enterprises, including fruit and salt companies and banks.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author
FRESH AIR IN SCHOOL.
I contend that the dulling influence of foul air on the brain has something to do with the backwardness of school pupils nowadays; this makes so much "homework" necessary.
Fresh air in the school room is conceded by all authorities to be an excellent thing for the pupils.
The trouble with school room ventilation, as it seems to me, is that the officials who determine what it shall be or how it shall be provided are not certain what fresh air is, or whether it is quite safe for young uns and teachers to breathe. Ambiguity is apparent in nearly every district of quasi-scientific arguments and the forbidding atmosphere of mystery, ventilation means letting sufficient air into and out of the room.
The simplest and most efficient ventilation of room is through open windows. Ah, but that implies a draft!
Sure. Without a draft ventilation is absolutely impossible. You must have a certain amount of fresh air. But just because it was formerly thought drafts brought pneumonia, dampness malaria, and night air consumption, you don't have to go on believing it.
The simplest way of getting fresh air in any school room having windows is to let the windows wide open down to the sill. The windows with screens of unbleached muslin, full size of the window, this admits air and light yet excludes rain, snow, dust, wind, insects and even drafts. School rooms thus equipped are easily kept at a comfortable temperature in winter months for both pupils and teachers.

Q. Is it true that Harold Lloyd, the movie actor, has an artificial hand?
A. Harold Lloyd lost his thumb and forefinger and part of his hand while he was posing for some comic photographs. He had a real bomb in his hand and the bomb exploded and blowing up the photographer's studio and injuring Lloyd's hand.
Q. What is a quarantine against plague?
A. The forest service says there is a quarantine against white pine from New England and Canada. "This is the only quarantine on-forest at present."
Q. What were the dates of the draft registration?
A. During the recent war there were three draft registrations, the first, June 5, 1917; second, June 5, 1918, and Aug. 24, 1918; third, Sept.
12, 1918.
Q. What is the difference between expressionism and impressionism in literature?
A. The fiction writer of the expressionistic school seeks inspiration in his own mind and in the extremes of the thoughts and emotions of a human being. The impressionistic school studies his surroundings and people, including himself, and tries to put them as they are, in his in practice, most novelists make use of both kinds of technique, though some novelists are known definitely as members of one school or the other.
Q. Does it injure a concrete swimming pool to fill it and allow the water to freeze over to form a skating rink?
A. The Portland Cement association says that a large swimming pool, if properly designed, may be used in this manner, since the horizontal pressure developed by the ice will be comparatively little. A pool having a horizontal dimension less than 25 feet should not be allowed to freeze.
Q. How tall are the pyramids?
A. The Pyramids of Egypt, some 75 in number, date from the period between the fourth and twelfth dynasties and were built as tombs for the pharaohs. The most important group is at Giza which includes the great pyramid, the tomb of Cheops. Its perpendicular height is 451 feet and its base length is 751 feet. The pyramids are built of stone, the material for which was taken from the hills on the opposite bank of the Nile.
Q. Can a photograph record be made of a person's handwriting?
A. The Bude says that a non-sensitive photograph record has been invented by European chemists. It makes possible the use of leather, cellulose paper, cardboard, or other paper, linen or cotton cloth as a base.
The new process is claimed to enable the printing instead of molding of records so that on a rotary press as many as 50,000 a day may be made.

FOSTERS ARRIVE IN NEW MEXICO

Janesville Merchant Has Interesting Trip Through Mountains.

Interesting description of an automobile trip through New Mexico is given in a letter just received from Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Foster, 902 Cornelia street, Janesville, who are now in Deming, N. M., after a 2,100 mile tour from this city. They have been gone a month. Mr. Foster, a shoe merchant here for many years, is making the visit in the south for his health and finds the country agrees with him. They intend to stay in Deming a month.

Mr. Foster says they have used 120 gallons of gasoline and 26 quarts of oil since they left and have spent $13.40 for repairs. His letter describes particularly the trip through the mountains, swamps and deserts, from Albuquerque to Deming, N. M.

Travel Over Mountains.
"Leaving Albuquerque," Mr. Foster writes, "we started toward Los Lunas, the next town of any size about 1,000 people. A detour led us through a narrow road, through swamps and Indian villages made of mud. The road was very bad. The Grande river, which is wide at this point, and then began the climb up the mountains, a distance of 5,270 feet. From that height all that could be seen was high table lands with not a person in sight and not even a bird."

Reaching the top after traveling a distance of 49 miles they were impressed with the view, says Mr. Foster.

"Going down the mountain," Mr. Foster says, "the car had just enough room to stick the road and sometimes the front wheels were but two feet from the edge of precipices when turns were made."

Camp at Socorro.
Arriving at Socorro, a town of 1,600 and mostly Mexicans, they left the National Old Trail and turned toward Hot Springs. They made camp that night at 20 miles from Socorro at San Marcial, at the foot of the mountains. Camping in the school yard in company with six other parties the Foster party found that the water from the Grande seeped down and made the ground very damp.

"We arrived in Hot Springs at noon," continues Mr. Foster, "and it did not appear to us as it set in the hills and not a street over two blocks long. It has two neat hotels."

At 15 miles from Hot Springs they were again forced to detour and it was the worst that they had experienced on the entire trip. They went over small trees, sometimes in front of a gulch where stones as large as a man's head had been washed down by the water and sand. Finally they got as far as Hillboro, 15 miles from a railroad. The town sells "gas" at 35 cents a gallon and has two cows. They were out of bread when the Fosters arrived there.

Grass Is Scarce.
Mr. Foster, in commenting on this town says, "The cows have horns with which they turn over the stones to find a stray blade of grass. The sun was so hot that everything was burned up. It rained all night and early in the morning we started out over the mountain trail. It was raining and the roads as slippery as grease but finally we reached the summit which is called Lake Valley. There we put the chains on and then the watches came along and said that we were at the top and would go down from that point. From there on it was desert."

"Just before you get out to a gravel pit and drive it," says Mr. Foster, "and you will get all of the sensations of the trip."

ANNOUNCEMENT.
The Star Market, owned by W. T. Scofield, has been purchased by Mr. P. B. Weaver and Mr. G. R. Crabtree. All bills against W. T. Scofield will be paid by him. All bills owned to Mr. Scofield are due and payable at the market.

Mary Agnes Doyle Here Thursday

Mary Agnes Doyle, interpreter of literature, coach, actress, and dramatic reader, is to make her first appearance in this city at 8:15 Thursday night at St. Patrick's hall, where she is to read the Irish play by Lennox Robinson, "The White-headed Boy." While the entertainment is being sponsored by the Catholic Women's club, it is open to the public as a worthwhile community event.

Miss Doyle comes to Janesville well recommended as a graduate of the Cummeck School of Expression, Northwestern university; the University of Chicago; and a pupil of such dramatic coaches as Isabel Garthill, Beecher, Mae Monroe of Vassar college, and Mrs. Milward Adams. She has coached extensively in the department of expression at St. Agnes college, St. Paul, Minn.; the departments of voice and dramatic art in the Cummeck School of Expression, Los Angeles, Calif.; and Northwestern university, school of oratory.

"The White-headed Boy" is a rare play revealing humorous errors in which each character is just wrong enough to be right, critics say of it. Neither "high brow" nor "low brow," the reading has a large appeal, which is enhanced by the popularity of the playwright Lennox Robinson, who is a contemporary of Lady Gregory, the Irish playwright and actress. Miss Irene Crowley is chairman of the ticket committee.

WOMEN'S LEAGUE IN EGG INQUIRY

Chicago—Investigation of the egg market, particularly in Chicago, was undertaken by the League of Women Voters, by the appointment of Mrs. Edward L. Middletown and Henry W. Dr. Simon Peter Long, Chicago, addressed those who attended the Father and Son week banquet of the First Lutheran church held at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday night, on "God's Great Big Bank." J. P. Ignatowski was toastmaster. Music was furnished during the supper hour by the Welcoming choral, Alfred Olson sang a solo. There were 112 present.

Among those who attended were the Rev. N. A. Stuhlfaut, superintendent of the Martin Luther Orphan's home at Stoutenight; the Rev. J. R. Rasmussen, Luther Valley; and the Rev. C. J. Muller of St. Peter's Lutheran church of this city.

UNLUCKY DAY FOR LIGHTING SYSTEM

Tuesday was an unlucky day for the city's ornamental lighting system, three globes being broken and one post knocked down. J. W. Keach's truck broke a globe on South Jackson street, while a collision between cars driven by Mrs. Otto Beckmann and Councilman David C. Gardner broke a post at the corner of Dodge and South Jackson streets during the evening. The driver who broke a light on South Bluff street did not report himself to the police. R. Burkholtz reported the windshield of his car was broken by a light at Rush avenue and Ringold street hanging too low.

POST OFFICES ARE ROBBED

Fond du Lac—Yongmen last night robbed the postoffice at Mayville and Theresa, Dodge county, and made away with close to $2,000 in stamps and cash. Similarity of the two jobs indicated the same party visited the two offices.

At Mayville, the loot is figured at $1,400 in stamps, according to William Kohl, postmaster. The safe was attacked with chisels and the combination lock pried off.

UNDERSTANDING ON WAR DEBT SOUGHT

Soldier Bonus Question Opens
Argument for Interest
Payment.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1923 Janesville Daily

Washington—Coincident with the demand of the ex-servicemen that they be given adjusted compensation, there is beginning to develop a sentiment for a frank understanding with the allies as to the payment of their war debts.

The commission created to arrange terms with the European debtors is responsible to congress. The settlement made with Great Britain is the only outstanding achievement of the commission. It has nothing to report concerning the probable payments by France and Italy.

Diplomatic needles have prevented the presentation of a request for payment. Gestures have been made by France and Italy in the last three years indicating that they were studying the subject, but no concrete proposals to pay have been furnished the American government.

Bonus from Europe

Meanwhile, with the exception of Great Britain, no interest is being paid. If the European debtors are arranged to pay, that interest the United States government could probably begin to pay a bonus to its sailors and soldiers. As it is the United States treasury is paying that interest to the holders of Liberty bonds whose money was originally lent to the allies. To obtain the sums needed for interest payments on Liberty bonds the treasury collects income taxes from seven and a half million American citizens. If the interest payments on Liberty bonds were not on the list of government obligations there could be an even greater reduction in taxes than Secretary Mellon has proposed. But irrespective of that the conservative estimates as to the cost of the bonus are about equivalent to the sums that are due annually from the European allies for their war debts.

"Political Debt"

In the collection of money from France the United States is in a difficult situation for the French are inclined to consider the debt to America as a political debt and they have not even made progress in their annual budgets since 1918 for the payment of the interest due the United States.

Thus far the claim of the French has been that they could not begin to pay America until money was forthcoming from Germany, and they have tried to persuade the United States to agree to a reduction in the debt due America or at least a postponement until money begins to come in from Germany on reparations.

With this viewpoint there has been no official sympathy here, but it has been realized nevertheless that the German reparation question makes difficult the funding of the French debt. What has aggravated the situation lately, however, is that the French government has begun to lend money to some of the smaller countries in central Europe to equip their armies and make them fast and firm allies of the French. The money lent to central Europe would go a long way toward paying the interest charges now being defaulted annually by France on her debt to the United States.

Approve the French

The American Legion, which has gone on record at its convention as approving the French occupation of the Ruhr, is regarded highly in France. The American Legion is actively working for a bonus for its members to be paid by the American government. If the American Legion could be persuaded to use its influence with the French government to help get the interest on the French debt to America paid, leaders in congress would be in a position at once to favor both a bonus and the proposed Mellon plan for tax reduction.

Mr. Mellon has estimated that a bonus would in a long run cost about $5,000,000,000. The American Legion has insisted that the annual outlay would be only about $200,000,000. This is approximately the interest on the allied debt irrespective of Great Britain's payments. The British are paying into the American treasury interest of about $125,000,000 a year. If sums like this could be obtained from France and Italy, who together owe the United States about $5,000,000,000, the bonus problem could easily be solved either by a bond issue or by actual provision in the annual budget.

Smart Presses for Action
Senator Smart, chairman of the senate finance committee, is a member of the world war debt funding commission. He is pressing for some action that will remind the allies of their obligations. He realizes no doubt that at the coming session of congress, and also in the next campaign, he will be asked as will the republican party, which alone is represented on the commission, just what progress has been made toward the collection of war debts.

BOOZE STOCKS OF
RICH ARE BARED

Chicago—The trend following out of the dissolution of the Grumman and Olmstead liquor company continues to bring testimony from wealthy and prominent persons of Chicago concerning the part of the pre-Volstead liquor stock they received when the liquor was divided into shares and sold. Charles W. Murphy, former owner of the Chicago National league baseball club, on the stand admitted purchasing two units of the stock. The liquor stock was disposed of, witnesses said, in units of 18 shares, each share representing a case of liquor.

ALASKA; NINE WIVES

Junesau, Alaska — Harold Steen, alias Walter J. Harnan, accused of forgery and believed to have been day on the steamship Admiral Rogers for the United States. He was accompanied by Police Inspector B. Swennes of Portland Ore.

"The Portland authorities know of nine marriages of Steen," Inspector Swennes said. "In addition to two in San Francisco, he is alleged to have been married twice in Portland, once each in Vancouver, B. C., and Seattle and three times elsewhere."

According to Inspector Swennes, the alleged bigamist usually selected a girl who had money. He is alleged by the authorities to have used the names of his various wives in cashing forged checks, starting a new courtship from the amounts obtained.

Exhaust Panel in Trial of Youths

Washburn Wis. — After the entire panel in Bayfield county court had been exhausted here yesterday in an endeavor to select a juryman for the trial of Everett McCulloch, Wallace McCulloch, Albert Smith, William Polk and Homer Cook, prominent Bayfield county youths, charged with the death of Joseph Butkowsky, 25, who died following injuries received in a Barksdale dance hall melee July 25 last, Judge G. N. Hildred issued an order that 10 extra veniremen be summoned.

The case charges the five youths with second degree murder following the death of Butkowsky, three days after his neck had been broken while he was trying to restore order during a free for all battle. Butkowsky, according to witnesses, was passing the dance hall when a heated fight broke out. He stopped to investigate and was asked by the town constable there to help quell the disturbance. Butkowsky was thrown over a railing by the fighters.
